OUR FRANKFORT LETTER.
Federal Relations—Important
Report of the Senate Committee on Federal Relations—A National Convention—Review of the Situation.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1867.

Special Correspondence Louisville Journal.

FRANKFORT, Jan. 29, 1867.

Some time since Senator Chandler introduced the resolution before us in regard to the calling of a national convention at Frankfort. The motion Senator John L. Helm, on behalf of the Committee on Federal Relations, made the amendment, approving the resolution. The resolution and the report were adopted, though some unimportant alterations or amendments may be introduced.

Resisted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. That the General Assembly favor the calling of a national Democratic convention of all the States, to be held in the city of Louisville, on an early day, for the purpose of taking into consideration the best means of saving the public welfare, maintain inviolate the Constitution of our fathers, the enforcement of constitutional law, and to bring to bear the whole power and influence of the nation to rescue the country from the usurper, the President, in his efforts to restore the Union, now dismembered by the unconstitutional and revolutionary acts of Congress.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FEDERAL RELATIONS.

The Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred the resolution, of federal relations, reported that they had the same under consideration, and are of the opinion that the action therein proposed is not only entirely proper under existing circumstances, but imperatively demanded by the necessities of the case. The committee, to avert the imminent danger to the people, the Court is sure to go down, and with it all those occult political and social influences of which it is accused to be the standard-bearer. The Republican here puts its party for the American people, and then asserts that, the moment the Supreme Court decides against the popular bent, the people will decline to obey the decision, and will demolish the Court. This is nonsense. It is pure nonsense. It resolves the government into anarchy. Yet this stuff actually turns the staple of the current articles and speeches of the radical leaders. It is high time the stuff was thrown aside. Though itself, and miserably itself, it is not harmless. It is mischievous. It is as mischievous as it is mischievous. The radical leaders will soon have to do one of three things. They will have to stop talking such stuff, or resolve to take it out in talking, or get ready to back it by physical force. Such stuff cannot be peacefully carried into practice in this country or any other country on the globe. Whoever thinks differently, is not a safe counselor.

There is much speculation as to whether or not the radicals will impeach the President. The radicals themselves are probably unable to answer this question at present.

We think their view of it is very correctly given in a late prayer by the Rev. Mr. Finney, of Oberlin, who, after extolling Congress to the skies, proceeded to speak to the President, saying: "But how shall I pray for the President?" Oh, Lord, if that can manage him, without crushing him, but, otherwise, crush him! This prayer, though nominally addressed to God, was really addressed to the radicals, who, by a plain syllogism, establish their claim to divine authority. So the syllogism runs:

The voice of the people is the voice of God.

We are the people.

Therefore, our voice is the voice of God.

This syllogism, it must be owned, is unexceptionable in form. Unlike the famous syllogism which Emerson Etheridge criticized, it is the Divinity thus regularly derived that the Rev. Mr. Finney addressed his prayer, which we make no doubt, will find favor with his Lord. In plain English, the radicals are disposed to deal with the President, if he can manage him without crushing him, but, otherwise, to crush him. The radical Lord, if he can, will grant the prayer of his Oberlin worshipper. If he fails, the failure will be归于 the fact that he is a sinner.

In the Paradise Lost, Milton makes a bold statement, which the author of all mankind by the expression: "The fairest of her daughters Eve." How fair was one of her own daughters is beyond the power of ordinary acumen to discover; the same error in expression, however, which anybody might repeat, with the same effect, that not even the author of Campbell's Philosophy of Rhetoric—itis made by people who ought to know better. The latest offender is the World, a journal which is never so happy as when criticizing others.—N. Y. Evening Post.
